6th SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST — Tone 5. Holy Seven Youths (“Seven Sleepers”) of Ephesus: Maximilian, Jamblicus, Martinian, John, Dionysius, Exacustodian (Constantine), and Antoninus (250). Martyr Eudoxia of Persia (362-364). Martyr Eleutherius of Constantinople (4th c.).

Story of the Seven Sleepers

According to the story of the Seven Sleepers, Christians were being persecuted in the Roman Empire under Emperor Decius. This part of the story, at least, is well established as historical fact. Seven young men, possibly soldiers or children, hid in a cave to escape persecution. They feared that they would be forced to convert away from Christianity. As they knew that they were being pursued, they said their final prayers in the expectation that they would soon die. Shortly after praying, all seven of them fell into a deep sleep. When their pursuers arrived at the cave, they sealed the entrance, effectively burying the seven young men alive, or so they thought.

Around three hundred years later, the seven young men finally awoke. They felt as though only a day or so had passed since they fell asleep. They found that their cave, once sealed, had been reopened; in some versions, the opening of the cave serves as the impetus for the sleepers' awakening. They were no longer persecuted for their Christianity and were instead revered as examples of God's miracles. After the Seven Sleepers died, their tomb became a holy shrine. There are variations on the details of this story in Islam and Christianity.

Слава Навіки! Slava Na Veeky! Glory Forever!
